DETAILED ACTION

Acknowledgments

1. This office action is in response to the reply filed June 27, 2008.
2. Claims 1-20 are pending in the application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Peters et al. (US 5,549,552) ("Peters") in view of Mugge et al. (US 5,478,620) ("Mugge").

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art only under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) might be overcome by: (1) a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not an invention "by another"; (2) a showing of a date of invention for the claimed subject matter of the application which corresponds to subject matter disclosed but not claimed in the reference, prior to the effective U.S. filing date of the reference under 37 CFR

1.131; or (3) an oath or declaration under 37 CFR 1.130 stating that the application and reference are currently owned by the same party and that the inventor named in the application is the prior inventor under 35 U.S.C. 104, together with a terminal disclaimer in accordance with 37 CFR 1.321(c). This rejection might also be overcome by showing that the reference is disqualified under 35 U.S.C. 103(c) as prior art in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a). See MPEP § 706.02(I)(1) and § 706.02(I)(2).

Peters discloses a balloon catheter assembly and method comprising: a first tubular member 34 having a proximal portion and a distal portion with a lumen 43 extending between the proximal portion and the distal portion; a balloon 37 having a proximal waist length 38, a distal waist length 39 and an expandable region 45 disposed about the distal portion; and a tie layer 47 disposed between the proximal waist length or distal waist length and the first tubular member C9 L17-22, C5 L30-36.

Peters discloses the invention as substantially claimed (see above). However, Peters does not directly disclose the tie layer comprising a polyester polymer and a polyamide polymer. Mugge teaches at least one intermediate layer made of a mixture of polyester and a polyamide to force-lockingly connect together the inner and outer layer of a polyamide pipe C1 L47-53. The tie layer of Mugge further comprises a copolymer of polyester and polyamide, see Claim 1. Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the tie layer of Peters with the polyester and polyamide tie layer as taught by Mugge for connecting together the tubular members.

Peters further discloses that this tie layer may be co-extruded over the first tubular member 34. C9 L17-22. By the teachings of Mugge the intermediate (tie) layer comprises a polybutylene terephthalate C4 L41-63.

In reference to claims 2-5, Peters discloses that alternative materials as known to those skilled in the art can be used for the tubular member and the balloon C3 L37-42. The balloon can be formed from an aromatic polyester or a PET and the tubular member can be formed from a polyamide or a polyether block amide C6 L54- C7 L5.
